順不同/敬称略

Kazumasa KUSAKA
Chairman and CEO
Japan Economic Foundation (JEF)

Kazumasa Kusaka has been Chairman and CEO of the Japan Economic Foundation (JEF) since April 1, 2013 and is also a Professor at University of Tokyo Graduate School of Public Policy. He previously served for 36 years in Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI), rising to become vice-minister for international affairs in the reorganized Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry (METI) in 2004. During his long career in public service, he was seconded to the International Energy Agency (IEA)/OECD and was Japan's senior official for Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC). He played a central role in Asia's economic integration, promoting FTAs in the region as well as serving as a senior official negotiating the Doha development agenda of the WTO. He was head of Japan's Energy Agency and held director-general positions in technology and environmental policy in addition to trade and investment-related areas within METI. He was also instrumental in finalizing the Kyoto Protocol, and developing Japan's energy and environment policies. Among many other posts he has held are Special Adviser to the Prime Minister on Global Warming, senior vice president of Mitsubishi Electric, executive adviser to Dentsu Inc., and president of the Japan Cooperation Center for the Middle East.

Naoyuki HARAOKA

Executive Managing Director

Japan Economic Foundation (JEF)

Naoyuki Haraoka has been Executive Managing Director of the Japan Economic Foundation (JEF) since 2007. After graduating the University of Tokyo in 1978 (Bachelor of Economics), he joined MITI (Ministry of International Trade and Industry) of Japanese government. Having been posted in the industrial policy section and the international trade policy section for a few years, he was enrolled in a two year MPA (Master of Public Administration) programme at Woodraw Wilson School of Princeton University in the US on a Japanese government sponsorship. After having acquired MPA at Princeton, he rejoined MITI in 1984 as an economist. Since then he had been posted as Deputy Director and Director of a number of MITI divisions including Research Division of International Trade Policy Bureau. He was also posted in Paris twice, firstly, Principal Economist of Trade Bureau of OECD (Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development) from 1988 to 92 and secondly Counselor to Japanese Delegation of OECD from 1996 to 99. After coming back to MITI from his second stay in Paris, at the occasion of the government structural reform in 2001 when MITI was remodeled as METI (Ministry of Economy Trade and Industry) he joined the efforts to found METI research institute, Research Institute of Economy Trade and Industry as its Director of Administration. He became Chief Executive Director of JETRO San Francisco in 2003 and stayed in San Francisco until 2006. He was Director-General of METI Training Institute from 2006 until July 2007 when he left METI permanently.

Yoriko KAWAGUCHI

Visiting Professor, Musashino University
Fellow at the Musashino Institute for Global Affairs

Yoriko Kawaguchi also is Distinguished Fellow of Tokyo Foundation for Policy Research. Prior to this, Ms. Kawaguchi was Professor at Meiji University and the Meiji Institute for Global Affairs from 2013 to 2018; Member of the House of Councilors (Upper House, elected) for the Liberal Democratic Party from 2005 to 2013; Special Adviser to the Prime Minister of Japan on foreign affairs from 2004 to 2005; Minister for Foreign Affairs from 2002 to 2004 and Minister of the Environment from 2000 to 2002.

Ms. Kawaguchi received Master of Philosophy in Economics from Yale University and BA in International Relations from Tokyo University.

Ms. Kawaguchi was awarded the Order of the Grand Cordon of the Rising Sun in May 2017, Star of Jerusalem by Palestinian National Authority in October 2010 and Wilbur Cross Medal by Yale University in October 2008.

Ms. Kawaguchi co-edited and co-authored a book titled, Future View of the Asia-Pacific – Networked Hegemony (Tokyo: Chuokeizai-sha, Inc.) published in Japanese in August 2017. It is on the question of whether Asia-Pacific can thrive peacefully in coming years with a focus on the "actors" to lead the regional order and the "structure."

Naoyuki YOSHINO

Dean and CEO
Asian Development Bank Institute (ADB Institute)

Professor Naoyuki Yoshino is Dean and CEO of the Asian Development Bank Institute (ADB Institute); Professor Emeritus of Keio University, in Tokyo, Japan; and Senior

Adviser at the Japan Financial Services Agency's (FSA) Financial Research Center (FSA Institute). He obtained his PhD from Johns Hopkins University, where his thesis supervisor was Sir Alan Walters (who was Margaret Thatcher's Economic Adviser). He was a visiting scholar at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (United States) and has been a visiting professor at various universities including the University of New South Wales (Australia), Fondation Nationale des Sciences Politiques (France), University of Gothenburg (Sweden) and Martin Luther University of Halle-Wittenberg (Germany). He was an Assistant Professor at the State University of New York at Buffalo and an Economics Professor at Keio University from 1991 to 2014. He was appointed board of the Financial Planning Standards Board in 2007, and also served as chairperson of the Japanese Ministry of Finance's council on Foreign Exchange and its Fiscal System Council (Fiscal Investment and Loan Program Section). He was also a board member of the Deposit Insurance Corporation of Japan, chairperson of the Meeting of Japanese Government Bond Investors (Ministry of Finance), and was President of the Financial System Council of the Government of Japan. He was conferred honorary doctorates by the University of Gothenburg (Sweden) in 2004 and by Martin Luther University of Halle-Wittenberg (Germany) in 2013; he also received the Fukuzawa Award from Keio University for his contribution to academic research in 2013. He teaches "Financial System of Japan" at the University on Air through nationwide television network in Japan every week. He is the President of Financial Education Council organized by the Central Bank of Japan, Financial Services Agency (FSA), Ministry of Education, Cabinet Ministry and private financial institutions.

Soichiro SAKUMA
Senior Advisor
Nippon Steel Corporation

Soichiro Sakuma is former Representative Director, Executive Vice President and Member of the Board, Nippon Steel Corporation (formerly known as Nippon Steel & Sumitomo Metal Corporation). He joined Nippon Steel Corporation in 1978 and worked at its legal department for more than twenty years on M&A transactions, FDIs, international trade cases, compliance issues and general corporate affairs. In 1986-89 he was in the Directorate for Science, Technology and Industry at the OECD. Bachelor of Law, University of Tokyo (1978).

Currently, he is also Chair of the Public Interest Commission of the Cabinet Office, a member of the Legislative Council of the Ministry of Justice and Chair of the Sub-committee on Economic Laws of Nippon Keidanren. He has been Vice Chair of International Investment and Responsible Business Conduct Committee of OECD-BIAC (Business at OECD) since 2007. Previously, he served as a member of the Council for Regulatory Reform of the Cabinet Office, the Environmental Council of the Ministry of the Environment, METI Industrial Structure Council's Sub-committee on Unfair Trade Policies and Chair of the Sub-committee on Global Environment of Nippon Keidanren.

His publication includes: "Is the WTO dispute settlement mechanism important to business?", in The WTO in the Twenty-first Century: Dispute Settlement, Negotiations, and Regionalism in Asia (Yasuhei Taniguchi, Alan Yanovich and Jan Bohanes eds., Cambridge University Press 2007).

Kent E. CALDER

Vice Dean for Faculty Affairs and International Research Cooperation, Johns Hopkins University (SAIS)

Kent Calder serves as Vice Dean of Faculty Affairs and International Research Cooperation and Director of the

Edwin O. Reischauer Center for East Asian Studies. Before arriving at Johns Hopkins SAIS in 2003, Calder taught for 20 years at Princeton University and four years at Harvard University. He also held visiting positions at Seoul National University, Yangon University, and the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Nanyang University as the Rajaratnam Professor of Strategic Studies. Dr. Calder has served as Special Advisor to the US Ambassador to Japan (1997-2001), Japan Chair at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (1989-1993 and 1996), and as the first Executive Director of Harvard University's Program on US-Japan Relations from 1979-1980. A specialist in East Asian political economy, Dr. Calder has spent 11 years living and researching in Japan and four years elsewhere in East Asia. Dr. Calder received his PhD from Harvard University in 1979, where he worked under the direction of Edwin O. Reischauer. He was awarded the Order of the Rising Sun, Gold Rays with Neck Ribbon in the fall of 2014.

David B. SHEARSenior Advisor
Marclay Associates

Ambassador David B. Shear previously served as Assistant Secretary of Defense for Asian and Pacific Security Affairs from 2014 to 2016, when he performed the duties of Principal Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Policy. Prior to 2014, Ambassador Shear served for 32 years in the US Foreign Service, most recently as the US Ambassador to Vietnam. He has also served in Sapporo, Beijing, Tokyo, and Kuala Lumpur. In Washington, Ambassador Shear has served in the Offices of Japanese, Chinese, and Korean Affairs and as the Special Assistant to the Under Secretary for Political Affairs. He was Director of the Office of Chinese and Mongolian Affairs in 2008-2009 and served as Deputy Assistant Secretary in the Bureau of East Asian and Pacific Affairs in 2009-2011. Ambassador Shear was a Rusk Fellow at Georgetown University's Institute for the Study of Diplomacy from 1998-1999. He is the recipient of the State Department's Superior Honor Award and the Defense Department's Civilian Meritorious Service Award for his work in US-Japan defense relations.

Ambassador Shear graduated from Earlham College and has a Master's degree in International Affairs from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies. He has attended Waseda University, Tai-wan National University, and Nanjing University, and he speaks Chinese and Japanese.

Hal BRANDS

Henry A. Kissinger Distinguished Professor of Global Affairs, Johns Hopkins University (SAIS)

at the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments and a columnist for Bloomberg Opinion. He is the author or editor of several books, including American Grand Strategy in the Age of Trump (2018), Making the Unipolar Moment: U.S. Foreign Policy and the Rise of the Post-Cold War Order (2016), What Good is Grand Strategy? Power and Purpose in American Statecraft from Harry S. Truman to George W. Bush (2014), Latin America's Cold War (2010), From Berlin to Baghdad: America's Search for Purpose in the Post-Cold War World (2008), and The Power of the Past: History and Statecraft (co-edited with Jeremi Suri, 2015). His newest book is The Lessons of Tragedy: Statecraft and World Order, co-authored with Charles Edel. Hal served as Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense for Strategic Planning from 2015 to 2016. He has also served as lead writer for the Commission on the National Defense Strategy for the United States, and consulted with a range of government offices and agencies in the intelligence and national security communities.

Yascha MOUNK
Associate Professor of the Practice John

Associate Professor of the Practice, Johns Hopkins University (SAIS)

Formerly Lecturer on Government, Harvard University; and Commentator, The Wall Street Journal

Yascha Mounk is a political scientist known for his work on the rise of populism and the crisis of liberal democracy. Born in Germany to Polish parents, he received his BA in History from Trinity College, Cambridge, and his PhD in Government from Harvard University. He is now an Associate Professor of the Practice of International Affairs at Johns Hopkins University, where he holds appointments in both the School of Advanced International Studies and the Agora Institute. He is also a Senior Advisor at Protect Democracy, a Senior Fellow at New York University's Reiss Center on Law and Security, and a term member of the Council on Foreign Relations. His third and most recent book, "The People vs Democracy: Why Our Freedom is In Danger and How to Save It," has been translated into ten languages and recognized as a "Best Book of 2018" by the Financial Times and other publications.

Daniel BOB

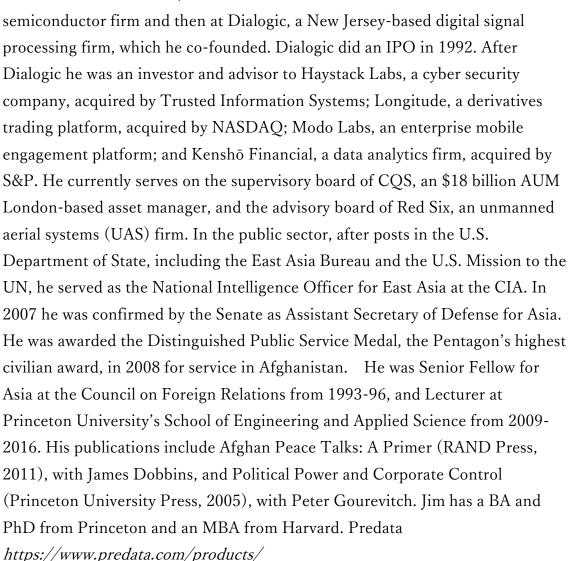

Senior Fellow, Reischauer Center for East Asian Studies, Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) Former Legislative Assistant to Senator William Roth, Chairman, US Senate Finance Committee

Daniel Bob has worked on US policy on Asia Pacific economic, diplomatic, and security matters for almost three decades and has held senior positions in the Senate, House, and executive branch. He also holds experience working in think tanks, the private sector and as an entrepreneur. He is also a Distinguished Senior Fellow at Sasakawa Peace Foundation USA, where he previously worked as Director of US-Japan Programs and Senior Fellow from 2011-2018, successfully developing and leading a multi-year expansion and upgrade of the organization, supporting its rise as a player in US-Japan relations. Previously, he worked as Senior Staff on the House Foreign Affairs Committee where he handled Asia Pacific and global environmental issues and as Special Assistant for Asian and Pacific Affairs for the Chairman of the US Senate Finance Committee and Senate Governmental Affairs Committee. He has been an International Affairs Fellow in Japan with the US Council on Foreign Relations and Senior Advisor at the international law and lobbying firm, Reed Smith. He was also Senior Advisor to the head of the regulatory agency that oversaw the multi-trillion dollar US secondary mortgage market, working to remedy Fannie Mae's accounting irregularities and replacing the company's senior executives. During the 2008 Presidential campaign, he worked as a member of Advisory Group on Asian affairs for the Obama campaign.

James SHINN Co-founder and Chairman Predata

James Shinn started working in Silicon Valley at Advanced Micro Devices, a California-based

Joshua T. WHITE

Associate Professor, Johns Hopkins University (SAIS) Former Director for South Asian Affairs, US National Security Council.

Professor Joshua T. White previously served at the White House as Senior Advisor & Director for South Asian Affairs at the National Security Council, where he staffed the President and National Security Advisor on the full range of South Asia policy issues pertaining to India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, and the Indian subcontinent, and led efforts to integrate U.S. government policy planning across South and East Asia. While at the White House, Dr. White played an instrumental role in advancing the U.S.-India relationship, with a focus on deepened defense and security cooperation and expanded opportunities for trade and investment; sustained constructive U.S.-Pakistan ties on an array of counterterrorism, economic and regional issues; supported a sustainable security transition in Afghanistan; coordinated U.S. government plans to re-normalize ties with Sri Lanka after decades of civil war; and led a high-level government-wide effort to assess how the United States can effectively respond to the growing economic, political, and strategic linkages between South and East Asia. Prior to joining the White House, Dr. White was a Senior Associate and Co-Director of the South Asia program at The Stimson Center and, previously, Senior Advisor for Asian and Pacific Security Affairs in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, a position he held in conjunction with an International Affairs Fellowship from the Council on Foreign Relations. While at the Pentagon he supported Deputy Secretary of Defense Ash Carter in advancing the U.S.-India Defense Technology and Trade Initiative, and advised on a broad set of defense issues related to the department's rebalance to the Asia-Pacific.

Jacob M. SCHLESSINGER

Senior Asia Economics Correspondent and Central Banks Editor-Asia, The Wall Street Journal

Jacob M. Schlessinger is Senior Asia Economics Correspondent and Central Banks Editors, Asia. He's

based in Tokyo, where he has lived, on and off, for nearly 10 years. He was previously Tokyo bureau chief. A graduate of Harvard with a degree in economics, Jake joined the journal from the St. Petersburg Times in 1986. Since then, he has written about cars in Detroit, and the Fed, the economy, and presidential politics in Washington, where he was deputy bureau chief. He is the author of "Shadow Shoguns: The Rise and Fall of Japan's Postwar Political Machine," and was a member of the Journal team winning the 2003 Pulitzer Prize for explanatory reporting. Follow him @JMSchles.

Kenneth I. LEVINSON

Executive Director, Washington International Trade Association

Ken Levinson serves as the Executive Director of the Washington International Trade Association (WITA).

WITA is Washington's largest non-profit, non-partisan organization dedicated to providing a neutral forum in the U.S. capital for the open and robust discussion of international trade policy and economic issues. WITA and its affiliated groups have over 5,000 members, and more than 160 corporate sponsors and group memberships.

Ken has over 25 years of experience working with companies, associations, NGOs and governments, advocating innovative solutions to complex public policy challenges. Over the years, Ken has worked with clients in the technology, telecommunications, bio-pharmaceuticals, agriculture and food, financial services, retail, apparel, energy, and consumer products sectors.

Previously, Ken served as Senior Director for Global Government Affairs for AstraZeneca. Prior to joining AstraZeneca, Ken served as Senior Vice President and COO at the Washington, DC consulting firm of Fontheim International. Ken joined Fontheim after spending six years on the staff of U.S. Senator John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV. Ken advised the Senator on foreign policy and national security matters, and served as the Senator's chief advisor on the U.S. Senate Finance Committee, dealing with issues related to international trade and tax policy.

Ken received his Master's Degree from New York University after doing his undergraduate work at the University of Massachusetts, in Amherst. Ken also spent a year studying at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark. Ken and his wife, the Reverend Donna Marsh, live in Bethesda, MD, with their two daughters.