

The 3rd JEF-KRA Global Risk Symposium

~ The importance of the Indo - Pacific Economic zone as a potential key to solving the issues behind Brexit, North Korea and Iran ~

Sep.19 (Thu.) 1:30p.m. ~5:30p.m.
International House (Iwasakikoyata Hall)

Japan Economic Foundation(JEF) and Komatsu Research & Advisory(KRA) will be holding the 3rd Global Risk Symposium to analyse the current rapidly changing international climate from a multifaceted perspective.

We have invited 4 distinguished speakers who are experts in their fields.

In Part 1, considering the current US-Iranian situation as well as the nuclear non-proliferation issue of North Korea and Iran, the US and South Korean perspectives will be introduced.

In Part 2, from British and European perspectives, Brexit and the prospective future Japan-UK relations, as well as the importance of the Indo-Pacific strategy which is gaining prominence in the geopolitical as well as military field will be explored.

There will be an interactive Q& A session with the audience after each session.
